

About FIS

Families in Society (ISSN: 1044-3894), a publication of the Alliance for Children and Families (www.alliance1.org), is a core journal in social work scholarship and is a trusted forum for human service professionals to explore and share ideas and concepts in the fields of social work and related services. Readers are informed of significant trends and techniques through practice-related articles on research and theory, direct-practice issues, and the delivery and management of services. FIS is one of only five journals that routinely comprise the "core of the social work journal network" with exemplary information on social work education and research.¹ The journal is consistently ranked in the top 20 social work titles for impact factor in the Journal Citation Reports (JCR) Social Science Edition.² Publishing at least 60 peer-reviewed articles annually, FIS provides 50% more refereed content than the average of 40 articles within those 20 top-ranking journals.

¹ Sellers, S.L., et al. (2006). Perceptions of Professional Social Work Journals: Findings From a National Survey, Journal of Social Work Education.

Furr, L.A. (1995). The relative influence of social work journals: Impact factors vs. core influence, Journal of Social Work Education.

Baker, D.R. (1992). A structural analysis of the social work journal network, Journal of Social Service Research.

² 2005 Journal Citation Reports Social Science Edition/ Social Work Titles. Copyright © 2007 The Thomson Corporation.

FAMILIES IN SOCIETY

The Journal of Contemporary Social Services

Name: _____

Position: _____

E-mail or Phone Number: _____

Department or Program: _____

How I plan to use Families in Society:

- use articles as curriculum for staff training or student learning
- research for service program development or evaluation
- discussion guide for clinical treatment outcomes
- as a publication outlet
- other _____

An online institutional subscription includes:

- Online access for unlimited users to over 3,000 articles
- Electronic versions of every issue published in the past 26 years
- Exclusive Web-Only and Web-Preview articles
- Free coursepack and e-reserve permissions for libraries
- Optional year-end archive of current FIS volume (CD-ROM)
- E-alerts with up-to-date information on new features
- Participation in educational Webinars and teleconferences
- Links to online continuing education courses
- Membership to topic boards and discussion lists

Visit www.familiesinsociety.org for more information.

Families in Society: The Journal of Contemporary Social Services
11700 West Lake Park Drive, Milwaukee, WI 53224
414-359-1040 ext. 3663 | info@familiesinsociety.org